

Trilance Film Music
1973 – 2010 ©®

Introduction by Rafi to the Dramaturgy of Music Pieces on these lists

It is in life's absurd contrasts of tragedies and joys, of human cohesion and isolation; of care and indifference,
of tolerance and intolerance,
of war and peace; of success and failure,
of natural disasters and beautiful landscapes,
That we are frequently humbled and grounded to our roots!
After this, we come back strong and nurturing. We interpret life to our Fellow sisters and brothers and listen to their own interpretations.
We do this with character and interdependence, with respect and fellowship!

Like all of us, I made my own interpretations.
I created some portraits of distinctive shades and stage settings for each song.
Then, I allowed instruments to take their shape and tell their story!

Anton Chekov said: "If you forget your lines on stage, just remember who you are, and you will get through it." To most of us, it is true:
It is all about character; the rest is insignificant!

Now enjoy the music samples. Close this page; choose your song from the Music Sample List-1, 2, 3, or 4; click D and move to the Juke-Box page